CHAPTER 24

JOIN THE MOVEMENT

The revolution is not an apple that falls when it is ripe.
You have to make it fall.
CHE GUEVARA

Content Inc. is a journey—one that changed my life for the better. I’m hoping the same will be true for you.

This book is a good start, but it’s not enough. There is so much more we need to learn and do to create an amazing business that starts with the needs of your audience (not the product you want to sell). As the platforms and the business model continue to change, so does on our need for ongoing training.

This chapter is all about resources to help inspire and educate you on your Content Inc. initiative.

Here are some resources I believe will help:

• The Tilt. After finishing the second version of this book, something didn’t feel right. I love how it turned out. The model is correct. But it’s not enough. I pulled some of my friends together to create The Tilt (thetilt.com), a news and education site that helps content entrepreneurs build an audience and grow revenue. We send out the newsletter two times per week. Please sign up at thetilt.com. You won’t regret it.

• The Content Inc. podcast. Every Monday I release a short podcast episode, which is always less than 10 minutes long. I try to keep the episodes very actionable, and depending on how fast you run, four episodes equals about a five-kilometer run. Just go to Apple Podcasts, Spotify, Stitcher, or Overcast and type in “Content Inc.”

• This Old Marketing podcast. Every Friday morning, Robert Rose and I cover the latest marketing news in a style that’s (let’s say) unique. My hope is that you’ll be educated and entertained at the same time. Each podcast is one hour long. Go to thisoldmarketing.site to gain access to every episode.

• The Random Newsletter by Joe Pulizzi. This is my personal newsletter, where I cover insights about the Content Inc. model, publishing and success techniques, and ideas on finances. I always end with “One Random Thing” that I’m hopeful will change your life. I distribute it every other Thursday. Sign up at JoePulizzi.com.

NEXT-GENERATION CONTENT INC.

As you progress in your Content Inc. journey, you’ll get to the point where you’ll need even more resources and insights to keep growing. Here are some resources that will help:

Writing

• Ann Handley’s Total Annarchy newsletter and her book *Everybody Writes. Perfect to improve your writing

• Brian Clark and Copyblogger. Truly useful site for digital copywriting practices

• Sarah Mitchell and Typeset’s blog. Valuable resource on writing and copywriting
Content and Media Operations

- Li Jin. Li spearheaded the Passion Economy movement. She has an amazing podcast with Nathan Baschez called Means of Creation and runs a valuable tech resource for creators at side-hustlestack.co/.

- A Media Operator. A must-read newsletter on how media companies run from Jacob Donnelly.

- Simon Owens. Simon covers diverse case studies by content entrepreneurs at simonowens.substack.com.

SEO/Analytics

- Andy Crestodina and Orbit Media Studios’ blog. Excellent for practical tips on analytics and SEO. Andy does incredible research on industry blogging.

- Wil Reynolds and Seer Interactive. Will knows more about search engine optimization than I’ll ever dream of knowing.

- Mike Murray and Online Marketing Coach. I’ve worked with Mike for 15 years, and he’s never steered me wrong.

Findability

- Gini Dietrich and Spin Sucks. Spin Sucks is a powerful (non) public relations blog.

- Lee Odden and TopRank’s online marketing blog. The blog is a great all-around marketing blog, but best for online findability.

• Pamela Muldoon. Pamela is a content strategist and the best female voice-over talent in the business.

• Mitch Joel. His Six Pixels of Separation podcast is one of the best and longest-running podcasts out there.

Visual Storytelling

• Donna Moritz’s blog. An amazing resource to learn more about visual content.

• Buddy Scalera. A master of visual storytelling. Check him out at ComicBookSchool.com.

• Jason Miller. He parlayed his experience at LinkedIn and Microsoft and built Rock ’N Roll Cocktail, an amazing rock photography/marketing education site.
Digital Marketing

- Allen Gannett and The Creative Curve! Allen’s book The Creative Curve! is a fresh take on digital marketing.
- Mark Schaefer and Marketing Rebellion. Marketing Rebellion is an excellent book on the state of marketing today.
- Andrew Davis’s blog. Andrew Davis is the most interesting man in marketing.
- Convince & Convert. Jay Baer offers this amazing resource of marketing blogs, books, and more.
- Heidi Cohen. Read her excellent Actionable Marketing Guide e-newsletter to keep tabs on what’s going on in marketing.
- Scott and Alison Stratten. Their excellent UnPodcast tells you what not to do in marketing. Plus, Scott is hilarious.
- John Hall and Relevance.com. Relevance.com is a fantastic digital resource.
- Sally Hogshead and Fascinate. Fascinate is an excellent book to help you better understand your own skill base (for finding your sweet spot).
- Jason Therrien and the thunder::tech blog. The blog includes amazing case studies and step-by-step guides.
- Jon Wuebben. His book is Future Marketing: Winning in the Prosumer Age.

Email Marketing

- Jessica Best. My go-to person for anything related to email marketing

FINAL THOUGHTS

I try to respond to as many tweets and emails as I can. You can find me on Twitter @JoePulizzi and on email at joe@thetilt.com. Although I’ve cut my speaking back a bit, I still do a number of keynotes throughout the year. If you are interested in finding out more about having me speak at your event, you can get all the details at JoePulizzi.com.

Thank you for taking the time to read this book. I truly hope it was a valuable experience for you.

Now go out and make life happen. Be epic!
